

A Venn diagram consisting of three overlapping circles. The top circle is dark blue and contains the word 'communication'. The bottom-left circle is light blue and contains the word 'computing'. The bottom-right circle is purple and contains the word 'control'. The circles overlap in various combinations, representing the intersection of these three concepts.

communication

computing

control